The Tiger Times 803 North Richmond Street Fleetwood, PA 19522 (610)-944-7656, ext. #2111

> President Leif Greiss

Vice President/Copy Editor Kyle Flannery

> Treasurer Christian Schwenig

Secretary/Copy Editor Elizabeth Geisinger

> Content Editor Melanie Lehman

Layout Editor Nikkole Hagginbothom

> Layout Editor Holly Wagner

Faculty Advisor Zachary Steven Houp

Reporters

Emily DeLong Michael Lasher Cody Millard Daniel Norton Michael Norton Tyler Rapposelli Zared Reichert Brianna Reinstadtler Kristina Scatamacchia Kelsey Steiner Ryan Steward

"Like" us on Facebook The Tiger Times

Follow us on Twitter @TheTigerTimes

TheTigerTimes.com

55th Annual Grammy Awards a Success

Entertainment

The 55th annual Grammy awards, hosted by L.L. Cool J, aired 10 February 2013 from the Staples Center in Los Angeles, California. Twenty-eight million people tuned in to watch the show.

The viewership went down from a near record-setting 40 million last year in the wake of the death of Whitney Houston.

The big winners of the night were fun., Mumford and Sons, and Gotye. A wider range of artists won awards this year because no artist took home more than 4 awards, as opposed to last year, when Adele dominated with six.

Gotye won Record of the Year for his song "Somebody That I Used to Know".

The award for Album of the Year went to Mumford and Sons for "Babel." Their album was also the fourth highest selling album of the year, moving 1.4 million copies in

In the Best New Artist category, the pop band fun. beat out the competition. The group also won for Song of the Year with their hit "We Are Young."

Many people were disappointed that R&B singer Frank Ocean lost out in several major categories. He led the pack in number of nominations but only took home two

"Where [in the world] is Frank Ocean?!" a disgruntled Tanner Rankin

One of the night's biggest performances came from Maroon 5 and Alicia Keys singing a mash-up of "Daylight" and "Girl on

Kelly Clarkson, Taylor Swift, Rihanna,

Frank Ocean and fun. also performed.

Finally, a Bob Marley tribute featuring Bruno Mars, Sting, Rihanna, Ziggy Marley, and Damian Marley brought the house down.

Overall, the Grammys were a success. Despite the drop in viewers from last year, it still dominated the primetime TV com-

By Michael Norton

FAHS Teams Participate in Economic Challenge

Academics

On 27 February 2013, history teacher Dina Heffner took three teams to the Economic Challenge Competition. This competition was held at Millersville University. This is Heffner's second year taking a team to this competition.

At the economic challenge, teams will have to take a series of tests. They must take two individual tests and one test with their team. The first two tests that are taken are individual, and they are entitled Microeconomics and Macroeconomics.

The third test is a team test and that is called International Economics/

Current Events.

Microeconomics is a branch of economics that studies the behavior of individual households and firms in making decisions on the allocation of limited resources. Typically, it applies to markets where goods and services are bought and sold.

Macroeconomics is a branch of economics dealing with the performance, structure, behavior and decision-making of an economy as a whole rather than individual markets.

This year, Fleetwood Area High School took three teams to Millersville for the Challenge.

One team is an all senior team; there is also one Advanced Placement (AP) team and one College Prep (CP) team as well. On the AP level team is Adam Smith Dinsin, and on the CP level team is David Ricardo Dinsin.

The top three teams to win at Millersville will move on to the State level to compete. After that competition, the next top three teams to win will move to the National Level competition.

By Kristina Scatamacchia

lagic Swarms the School

Recreation

Fleetwood Area High School has a history of having students play a trading card game called Magic: The Gathering. It has taken multiple years for a group to be organized, and now, one has emerged. The Magic club meets about once a week to get together and play a common game. The kids in the club meet in either English teacher Zachary Houp's or science teacher Todd Driesbach's room to duel each other. Houp and Driesbach, both players themselves, are advisors to the group.

"Finally there is an organized club that we can play Magic together and have fun," senior Colemann Mitchell said.

The members in the club are hoping to take some kind of field trip to tournaments held at Golden Eagle at the Fairgrounds Square Mall. This will give the players the opportunity to compete against other people and in turn, will give them more experience with

"Some people see us playing Magic Eagle to buy cards and to play in pre-releases for new sets," senior Anthony Batista said.

The Magic club is looking in to buying a big amount of cards. This way, the kids will get a variety of cards. Also, it will be more cost-effective instead of buying a single booster pack.

Booster packs only hold fifteen cards and cost around $4.00 per pack. The chances of getting good cards are often

If you are interested in joining the Magic club, please contact Batista, Scott Long, or Houp. You might even find them after school in one of the teachers' rooms.

Magic is a fun and strategic game for any age. All it requires is time, effort, and a little intelligence.

The game truly is for all ages and any type of person.

By Christain Schwenig

more Brendan Homan.

fortunately, they haven't gotten the enjoyment of actually playing the game. They're solely judging us on the fact that it isn't usual of high school kids to play card games," said sopho-

Manti Te'o Under Much Scrutiny for Fake Girlfriend | 2013 MLB

Heisman Runner-up Manti Te'o became very popular last year due to his play on the football field. He was the Captain for Notre Dame and helped lead them to the National Championship, where they lost to the University of Alabama.

Te'o was also very popular because of his character and the fact that he could overcome off the field issues and still perform well on the field.

Then, on September, Te'o's grandmother, Annette Santiago, died, and his alleged girlfriend Lennay Kekua dying six hours later from leukemia. Many fans idolized the way Te'o could overcome adversity and still play at such a high level.

After the National Championship, on 17 January, Deadspin.com reported that Manti Te'o's dead girlfriend was never real. Manti Te'o told his father that the couple met after Notre Dame played Stanford in November 2009. The truth of the matter is that Te'o actually never met Kekua face-toface. They had an exclusively online relation-

On 6 December, Te'o received a phone call from Kekua's number and a voice he recognized as hers telling him that she wasn't dead.

Ronaiah Tuiasosopo is the man who played the role of Lennay Kekua and tricked the football star Te'o. He played the role of the girlfriend, who called Te'o thousands of times and created a fake Twitter account. He used the Twitter account to communicate with Te'o's friends to make the relationship seem Tuiasosopo says he was in love with Te'o and then realized he himself wasn't homosexual and killed off the character.

"It's pathetic that the starting linebacker at Notre Dame couldn't get a real girlfriend," senior Steve Hilborn said.

"Manti was under pressure to find a girlfriend because Alabama's A.J. McCarron's girlfriend [is attractive]," senior Daniel Judy

Many people have different opinions on the matter. Some feel bad for Te'o for falling for this heartless prank. Others believe he is an idiot for falling for it since Te'o never met his girlfriend.

Then there are some people who believe Te'o did it for publicity to help him win the Heisman.

In the next couple months, more will develop on this story.

By Ryan Stewara

Warm Bodies a Slightly Better Book

Zombie love, brain-eaters, controlling societies, and, of course, an unforgettable love story! Warm Bodies was an instant hit.

wanted to see that movie so bad! It seriously looks amazing!' senior Cameron Weeks said.

What most people do not know is that Warm Bodies was actually a book before it became a movie. Warm Bodies was written by Isaac Marion. He was born in Seattle in 1981 and is currently still living there. He started writing in high school and has since then created three novels, one of which was Warm Bodies.

No matter how hard the movie business tries, movies are almost never the same as the books. The same is the case for Warm Bodies.

[Spoiler Alert]

The main zombie is named R. He is a zombie that has not seemed to be a zombie for too long, seeing how he wasn't as decayed as the others. In the movie, R commented on trying to remember his past and said how he must have been unemployed because of the type of clothes he was wearing.

hoodie with a white tee underneath, and black Converse sneakers. In the book, though, R is dressed in nice khakis with a button up polo and a red tie. This wasn't too big of an issue but still, it irked me a bit.

In the book, R had children. The boneys, which are basically the zombie leaders, married R to another zombie and then assigned children to them to foster. This was never mentioned in the movie. Though you do see the children in the movie once or twice, they aren't R's children.

Next was the similarity of the movie plot. I was very impressed how well the movie plot followed the plot in the book. Almost everything was comparable. Only a few things were missing, one of which was a very important event in the book.

Both the plot of how R found Julie and their story together was completely accu-

R found Julie in a building while he was on a hunt with another pack of zombies. At the building, R attacked Julie's boyfriend and ate his brains.

"Issue Muries has created the most seexpected committee lend I've ever encountered."

on has a great new voice that hooks you from page

When the zombies eat the brains, they get the memories of their victims. It helps up to her father to tell him that R is a zombie > them remember what it felt like to be alive.

R eats the boyfriend's brains and instantly falls in love with Julie. He then feels as if he has to protect Julie and take her back to the airport (where all the zombies live).

Of course, Julie will have to return to her father's city, which was surrounded by a gigantic cement wall and is the only remaining idea of a society. Julie's father happens to be the leader of this society, and he will do anything to keep the zombies out.

Julie eventually leaves, but she ends up missing R while back in the city. R then discovers that he is changing and can talk more easily. He can feel cold and even a heartbeat inside of this chest.

It isn't only R

that is changing either.

R then gets a herd of zombies who are also changing, and they all go to the city to find Julie so R can tell her that they are changing and becoming hu-

R and these zombies no longer have the urge to feed, so they are considered safe.

Once in the city, R goes inside and seems to blend in with the people who are in the He was wearing dark jeans, a red zip- city. R eventually finds Julie when she is up on a balcony. He yells up to her, the best he could, and they finally find each other.

Here is where everything gets messed up. In the book, R and Julie hide in the city for a while with her best friend Nora. One night, they all go to a hidden bar in the city and have a few drinks.

Later that night, R gets separated from the girls and a guard sees him walking down the street drunk. The guard realizes he is a zombie, and R has no other choice but to kill the guy.

Ridden by guilt, R tells Julie, and the stadium goes under lockdown because someone discovered the body. Julie's father then goes into the house, and that is how he finds Julie with a

Her father, being the leader, sets out on a hunt to kill R.

In the movie, Julie just went straight and that he is changing and turning human again. They completely ignore the intensity of the original scene and just jump straight to the

Regardless, when the cat is out of the bag, the entire city goes under lockdown and is out to kill R.

There is just one more difference between the book and the movie that truly takes the cake. In the end of the movie, Julie's father sees that R is officially human and accepts what has happened and tries to fix every thing. In the book, Julie's father despises the fact that R was even a zombie in the first place and a boney jumps on to the roof that they were all standing on. This boney attacks Julie's father, but he doesn't even stop to save himself because he is so disgusted in his daughter.

The filmmakers probably wanted a happier ending, but both the movie and the book end with R and Julie both human, together and happy.

Both the movie and the book were fantastic. The movie was followed the original story well, except for a few scenes. As in every case, the book is much better than the movie. Season around the Corner

Sports

The upcoming 2013 Major League Baseball, or MLB, season is set to begin with a matchup of the Texas Rangers and the Houston Astros. This will be a Sunday night game on 31 March. Opening day for most of the clubs will be on 1 April.

"Baseball is back! It should be a great year, and I cannot wait to watch," junior

There are some new minor rule changes set to occur in the 2013 season. One rule that seems to be more on the unusual side is that now managers can bring interpreters to the pitcher's mound, just in case the pitcher is not fluent in English. Also, teams are now allowed to have seven coaches in the dugout, which is one more than last year's six.

Another change that will be taken into effect in the 2013 season is that the Houston Astros are set to become a member of the American League. They will be placed in the West division. The last time teams were added to the American League was in 1977, when the Seattle Mariners and Toronto Blue

"I'm really excited for the start of the new season," sophomore Tyler Emge said.

Just as many baseball fans around the country are getting ready for the upcoming 2013 season, Fleetwood is feeling the same

Last year, the National League champion Giants took the World Series back to San Francisco. The 2012 World Series was the 108th annual World Series. The Giants defeated the American League champion Detroit Tigers in just four games. This was the seventh time that San Francisco won the World Series, and it was the second time in the last three years.

Pablo Sandoval of the Giants ended up earning the World Series' Most Valuable Player Award.

"It should be an exciting season to watch. I cannot wait," sophomore Zach

Baseball fans from all over are preparing for the start of the MLB season, hoping that it is a very intense, entertaining year.

By Emily DeLong

By Tyler Rapposelli

- Creative Design Services
- Screen Printing & Embroidery
- Vinyl Lettering
- Promotional Items

w.ampedimage.com CREATIVE ORIGINAL ARTWORK ideas! HG STOVES

Full Color Athletic Wear Printing Traditional Screen Printing Awesome Graphics & Designs No Obligation Quotes & Tons More!

Fleetwood, PA • 484-797-7772

Shippensburg Gains Bizarre National Attention

In February 2012, Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania began selling Plan B, a contraceptive pill, in its vending machines.

For $25, students who attend Shippensburg can purchase Plan B in a vending machine in the same way somebody in Fleetwood can purchase a water bottle.

At the time, the story created a lot of controversy and generated a lot of press. It was covered on Fox News, CNN, and was even made fun of on humorous programs such as Saturday Night Live and Tosh.0.

The story faded a few months after initially gaining popularity, and many people forgot about it as time went on. However, the topic has resurfaced recently.

On 29 January 2013, the Obama administration finally formally approved of Shippensburg distributing of the pill in its vending machines.

It also approved of condoms, decongestants, and pregnancy tests also being available in vending machines as well.

The FDA decided not to intervene in the matter due to a "publicly motivated uproar" following the initial controversy about the vending machines.

Of course, the school's decisions did not come without any debate. A large audience of people immediately opposed Shippensburg's decisions, claiming that the presence of the contraceptives in the vending machines would encourage sexual activity for students who lived on the school's campus.

With the amount of exposure the presence of Plan B had in the media, Shippensburg University gained a place in the national spotlight for a short time.

Even though many opposed it, the school's actions finally were approved by the Obama administration. Perhaps there will be more colleges and universities doing the same thing in the near future.

By Daniel Norton

Norovirus Plagues People Globally

Health/Medicine

The norovirus is a genetically diverse group of single-stranded RNA, non-enveloped viruses in the Caliciviridae family. The most common transferral of the virus is person to person contact, although it can be transferred by fecally contaminated food or water and aerolization of the virus with subsequent exposure to surfaces.

Noroviruses are the most common cause of viral gastroenteritis in humans and affect people of all ages. The virus's symptoms include nausea, forceful vomiting, watery diarrhea, ab-coughs, and low-grade fever.

It has been affecting the world around at large and causing many people to suffer, with possible hospital trips for the afflicted.

The virus has also been observed in the United Kingdom as the winter vomiting bug, and recently it has affected the students in Fleetwood with horrible symptoms, causing them to miss days of school and potentially fall behind.

I haven't seen much of the virus in Fleetwood," nurse Bonnie Fansler said. "But it is very frequently, sleep properly, and avoid contact with those currently affected"

The Center for Disease Control and Prevention suggests that people "carefully wash fruits and vegetables, cook oysters and other shellfish thoroughly before eating them, clean and disinfect contaminated surfaces (especially after vomiting or having diarrhea) using a solution of bleach and water, and wash laundry thoroughly that may have been contaminated with vomit and stool."

By Cody Millard

Hype of the Super Bowl Holds True in 2013

March 2013

On Sunday, 3 February, the National Football League held its 47th annual Super Bowl. The biggest game of the season was played by the Baltimore Ravens and the San Francisco 49ers. It took place in New Orleans, home of the Saints. Baltimore ended up defeating the 49ers by a

The game started very one-sided, with the Ravens taking an early lead, but after a half hour of technical problems with the lighting in the Mercedes-Benz Superdome, the 49ers came back and made the game close.

The Raven's starting quarterback Joe Flacco ended up winning the Super Bowl MVP after going 22 for 33, equaling 287 yards and resulting in 3 touchdowns. This topped off what seemed like a flawless postseason run for Flacco.

The San Francisco 49ers came into this game seeking their sixth Super Bowl, victory which would have tied the Pittsburgh Steelers for the most ever.

Colin Kaepernick, who became the starting quarterback late in the season after Alex Smith went out injured, was the main man for this game

Kaepernick is a more dynamic running quarterback than Smith. He also can throw a "bullet" of a pass. He also led San Francisco all the way through the playoffs into the Super SUPER BOW Bowl, which may be the reason he was still the starter for this big game.

The Super Bowl was respectively nicknamed the "Harbaugh Bowl," in which Jim and John Harbaugh (brothers) were the head coaches for the Championship teams. Another name the event was given is the "Harbowl".

As many may know, at the beginning of this postseason, hall-of-famer Ray Lewis announced this would be his "last run" of his ca-

It can be said that the astonishing thirteen-time pro bowler went out with a bang. What could be better than winning a Super Bowl in your last NFL season?

Aside from the actual game that was being played, there were more characteristics that made this Super Bowl memorable. One was Beyoncé's astounding halftime show.

But hat wasn't the only thing that could be considered memorable. Just as the third quarter was getting under way, half of the lighting in the Superdome went out for 31 minutes. There is no reason anyone has uncovered yet to why this occurred.

All in all, this was an intense football game with other excellent non-football events that did in fact live up to the hype of the Super

By Tyler Rapposelli

dominal pain, and in some cases, loss of taste. certainly affecting the world." Other possible symptoms include gen-Her suggestions for preventing it is to eral lethargy, weakness, muscle aches, headache, "eat properly, drink lots of water, wash hands

The Following Begets Massive Early Following on Fox

Entertainment/Art

New this year to Fox is the psychological thriller The Following.

Written by the writer for Scream, The Following centers around ex-FBI agent Ryan Hardy (Kevin Bacon), who in 2003 was responsible for tracking down serial killer Joe Carroll (James Purefoy).

It is now ten years later, and Carroll has orchestrated a sinister plot involving his ex-wife Claire (Natalie Zea), son, and Hardy.

Carroll causes havoc without even leaving his prison cell with the help of a massive nationwide cult following.

On the same token, Hardy also has followers. The show blends horror, suspense, and crime drama thrills, with Carroll and his followers being heavily influenced by the works of Edgar Allen Poe.

The show is also unabashedly violent, with a lot of gruesome deaths and scenes that could sicken the weak-stomached.

With a 62/100 on metacritic, The Following has been met with mixed reviews. Much praise for the show has come from appreciation of Bacon and Purefoy's acting and the general suspense the show arouses.

However, there is a fair share of criticism, mostly relating to the plot twists and premises, 2-dimensional characters, and the violence and gore found prevalently through-

Despite issues like these, The Following has garnered a fair following of its own. Premiering with 10.4 million viewers, it has continued to do well in the rating boards.

Teacher Name Crossword Puzzle

3. - I am the ruler of journalism.

6. - I have a bubbly personality, and I am the advisor of book

9. -I am one of the senior class advisors.

10. -I keep my students fit and healthy.

11. -I am a history teacher. I have a son named Tanner.

12. -I make the hallways smell of sweet deserts and tasty foods. 8. -I rule the school.

13. - I teach on the top floor, and I teach mostly tenth graders.

By Kelsey Steiner

1. -I love anything Disney.

2. -I am an advisor of the outdoor club.

4. -I work with students with special needs.

5. -Guten Tag.

7. -I work in the office. I have a daughter who is a sen-

De-

the FBI and even his own

Sherry's Mane Cut

 Ladies Day Special Every Tuesday Seniors Day Special Every Wednesday 501 N. 5th St. Reading Gift Cards 🖼 😇

www.TheTigerTimes.com

Page Four March 2013

"Madskill" Hileman Commits to Temple

Madison Hileman is a senior at Fleetwood Area High School who recently signed her national letter of intent to play goalie for Temple University's girls' soccer team.

Hileman started all four years on the high school girls' soccer team, winning the team a Berks County Championship along with leading them to a District 3 final. Madison, or "Madskill," is not only a soccer standout; she is also a talented field hockey goalie. She won a county championship in field hockey as well.

Due to the moving of girls' soccer to the fall season, many athletes had to decide between soccer and field hockey. Hileman chose to play soccer over field hockey because the team was a family and she wanted to be a part of that one more It wasn't an easy choice for the reigning all-Berks county field hockey goalie and allstate honorable mention, but, after the successful season this year, it looks like Madskill made the right choice.

This year was a special year for the Fleetwood girls' soccer team. They won the county championship, beating powerhouse Wilson, and they were a District qualifier.

During Fleetwood's historic run, Hileman led the Tigers the entire season. She not only stopped penalty kicks in the county championship to win the game, but she also scored one.

In her senior season, she was selected all-county for a second time along with an allstate selection. Madison also received Berks girls' soccer player of the year.

"My most memorable moment from high school soccer was winning the county championship in penalty kicks, while the super fans chanted 'Madskill'," Hileman said.

'I was always very confident in Maddie. She never had an off game and always made great saves. We could always count on her to make the big save. We are going to really miss her the most is this year's soccer county championnext year," teammate Bella Abrams said.

Last winter, Hileman verbally committed to Temple University to play soccer for the Owls. She gained a lot of college interest while playing for the travel team FC Delco.

Hileman talked to a few other colleges but decided that Temple was the place for her. She chose Temple because of their education program and their coaches.

She also liked what Temple had to say about their program, and she wanted that to be the place she spent her next four years. Hileman did not have any second thoughts and was excited to sign her national letter of intent in front of her family and friends.

When Madison isn't playing soccer, she enjoys hanging out with friends, tweeting, and playing FIFA. She also enjoys being a Super Fan for Fleetwood sporting events. Attending Redand White-outs are one of her favorite things to do while cheering for her school.

Hileman has had a historic career for Fleetwood in both soccer and field hockey. She is one of a few athletes to win two county championships in two different sports.

She accomplished a lot in her career at Fleetwood, but the accomplishment that means

Sterner Puts His Paw in at FAHS

Profile

Evan Sterner is a new member to Fleetwood Area High School. Sterner is almost always in in-school, as he is Fleetwood's new advisor, but he also monitors the cafe in the morning. Sterner is a Hamburg resident living with his wife, twoyear-old daughter, and dog, Mingus.

Sterner went to Blue Mountain High School, has a bachelor's degree in History, and was involved in a Teacher Certification Program at Alvernia in social studies. He has been substituting until he could find a full-time social studies teaching position. Then he came across the opportunity to work for Fleetwood.

Now at Fleetwood, his day consists of e-mailing teachers for students' work, helping his ISS students with work they find challenging, and also coming up with strategies to keep kids from getting into trouble again.

Sterner's rules are straight forward: no talking, stay in your seat, and keep busy. His newest rule is that all phones get collected and locked up first thing.

"If someone is having an emotional day, I try to talk them through whatever might be By Ryan Steward going on," Sterner said.

Playing guitar or bass in his band or by himself is a relaxer and great stress reliever for Sterner, along with listening to music by The Beatles, The Who, Jimi Hendrix, Pearl Jam, Rolling stones, 311, and Charles Mingus. Sterner also enjoys the occasional Black Ops shootout on PS3 and playing with his daughter.

"It's amazing to see my daughter figure things out, dance around, and giggle," Sterner

By Kelsey Steiner

FAHS Music Takes on Myrtle Beach

Each year, the music association plans a trip for students in band, band front, chorus, and

Not only is this a trip to showcase Fleetwood's musical talent, but it also is a reward for the kids who work hard.

Fleetwood's music is notorious for having a superior program and great talent.

If it weren't for the teachers who taught

"Band, chorus, and orchestra have really been a part of my life since I was in third grade. It's a great way to express myself, and I don't know what I would do without them," senior Aaron

During the trip, students have approximately four days to relax and have a good time with friends.

Fleetwood Area Music Association (FAMA) rents out a portion of a hotel, where students and staff of the music program reside. There are four people to a room, and it can only be boys with boys and girls with girls.

"I look forward to chilling in the room with my friends because we can do whatever we want. I know I'll always get some laughs in and just have a great time," junior Wes Hawkins said.

Usually, FAMA plans out an itinerary that is followed rigidly. Two days are dedicated to actually competing against other schools. The next day is spent in the hotel, where people can swim, work out, hang out in the room, or walk on the

'Yankees!"

Random Cheese

Finally, the remaining day is spent doing another awesome activity. Last year, the group had a breakfast in a ferry on the Three Rivers in Pitts-

FAMA really picks great activities for students in elementary school through high school, the students to do. I know I will never get bored the ensembles would not be nearly as good as they and will always have fun," sophomore Matt Masenheimer said.

Of course, the band trip is not free. Students often complain they cannot afford the trip, but everyone has the opportunity to fundraise in order to cover most, if not all, of the

The school knows not everyone can afford the trip, which is why they offer these fundraising opportunities. If someone did not fundraise the price could be anywhere from $500 to $850. depending on the chosen location of the trip.

This year, the band trip will be to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. The weather should be warm, so the students can go to the beach.

Fleetwood's music program will have a plethora of activities for the students to do and should prove to be a fun time for everyone.

Adam Shapiro (10th) -- "My favorite

MLB team is the Phillies.'

Ryan Lazar (11th)--"The Phillies!"

By Christian Schwenig

217 Main Street, Blandon (610)-926-3260

What is your favorite MLB team?

Josh Ravel (11th) -- "Charlie Manuel's Phillies."

Mike Osenbach (10th)--"I love the Phils." Antonio Rosa (11th)-"I love the Yanks." Adam Beidler (11th)--"The Phillies are my favorite."

The Tiger Times is a high school news journal that is produced using funds from The Fleetwood Area School District as well as club fundraisers. All subjects and topics appearing within The Tiger Times are self-selected by student reporters themselves; however, article suggestions are accepted from all students, staff, administration, and community members. Opinions and viewpoints stated in The Tiger Times are not necessarily the opinions and viewpoints of The Fleetwood Area School District, its administration, its faculty, the club advisor, or even the entirety of The Tiger Times staff. The Tiger Times is a public forum, the primary goal of which is to provide an outlet for student expression to The Fleetwood Area School District and its constituent communities. Viewpoints and opinions that are contrary to those appearing in The Tiger Times are welcomed, but they are not guaranteed publication except by approval from the student editors. Students who are not matriculated in the journalism course or who are not among the club's roster are still eligible to submit content for the periodical. All articles and letters selected for publication may be subject to editing for length and language consistent with the style established by student editors of The Tiger Times.